A GREAT PAPER'S GREAT SUCCESS From the Chester (Pa.) News.

From the Chester (Pa.) News.

The Washington Evening Star is a power in the state. Published at the seat of government, its influence is direct and strong, and we can bear witness that it is exercised at all times in furtherance of worthy alms and noble aspirations. It has lived its life of usefulness now for eight and forty years, though it was not until sixteen years later, when the present proprietors assumed charge, that it began to unfold the mighty possibilities of a clean and progressive newspaper conducted by moster minds. As a natural result, the career of The Star has been one of constant and progressive prosperity, and it has steadily made headway in consonance with the wonderful growth of the capital city.

ly lately announced as its future policy protection of home interests, the Wash-for us to follow. What the Republican has only lately announced as its future policy, the protection of home interests, the Washington Star has pursued as its undeviating course for more than a third of a century. Time was, and within our memory, when a modest quarto represented the size of the paper. Then came an occasional eight pages on Saturday. Then every Saturday. Then every week day. And long since has it grown to twelve and sixteen and twenty-four pages as occasion demands.

Of course, with this wonderful prosperity came generous outlay for proper accommodations, and for many years the home of The Star has been an ornament to Pennsylvania avenue. But a little over a year ago the generous owners of the paper determined to treat themselves and their employes to a building that should be a model in everything that is comfortable and convenient, and the city to a building that for beauty and commanding aspect has so far no equal in the capital city. The building, just completed, has been taken possession of, and to show how intimately The Star and its affairs are a matter of interest to Washingtonians, we will mention the fact that on last Saturday evening, when its beautiful quarters were thrown open to the inspection of its friends, a steady stream of humanity surged through the buildings until late at night.

As an evidence showing to what the editors of The Evening Star ascribe their success, their wonderful prosperity, and as a cheering reminder of what may await, to a degree, the Chester newspaper that protects home interests, we republish a paragraph gleaned from the paper that is so near our heart. The words are few, but they speak the living truth, and to us they speak encouragement that gives new life to our hope and new strength to our endeavor:

"The Star is proud of its new home, not only because it provides an ideal working equipment, but particularly because the structure stands as a endernical contraction.

hope and new strength to our endeavor:

"The Star is proud of its new home, not only because it provides an ideal working equipment, but particularly because the structure stands as a substantial and enduring demonstration of the wisdom of the policy which was declared when the paper passed into the present ownership and direction. The Star then announced that it was to be conducted as an exponent and champion of Washington, the local community and the national capital alike. *

Another lesson taught by The Star's success is that a newspaper does not lose by issuing a publication which is clean and trustworthy in the midst of the corrupting influences and tendencies of sensational journalism. The Star has held to the ideal of a newspaper that could be relied upon for honesty and accuracy, that respected private rights, restricted the news field to its legitimate bounds, and that kept advertising matter from its editorial columns and matter unfit to publish from all its columns."

Deserves Its Prosperity. From the Indianapolis News.

The Washington Star is to be congratu lated on the completion of its magnificent new building. It is one of the handsomes new building. It is one of the handsomest and best arranged, and most fully equipped newspaper buildings in the world. Standing at a conspicuous corner in Pennsylvania avenue, the building is one of the monumental structures of the city of fine buildings. The Star deserves its great prosperity. For a generation it has given the people of the capital a clean, wholesome, honest newspaper. As the Washington Post says: "The Star's growth has been coincident with the growth of Washington; it has kept step, and is still keeping step with the steady march of progress at the nation's seat." Long life and prosperity to The Star!

A Demonstrated Success.

the Knoxville Journal-Tribune. From the Knoxville Journal-Telbune.

The Washington Star has demonstrated the possibility of newspaper success in the national capital on a grand scale. In its infancy it was a small sheet, but it has grown to a seven-column, twelve-page paper and often larger. The Star company has recently erected a large office building, one of the most commodious and best appointed buildings of the kind on the continent, one that is a credit to beautiful Washington, as well as to the owners of that excellent newspaper.

LATE ADVICES FROM TIEN TSIN

Chinese Torturing Wounded and Mutilating Dead.

WAR SUPPLIES DESTROYED

TIEN TSIN, June 29, via Chefoo, July 1, and Shanghai, July 5.—Those best informed in Tien Tsin consider the position of for-eigners in Pekin as almost hopeless. It is hope ess to attempt to force the way with the force available. Commanders are willtempt a forced march from Tien Tsin with tion to the army, besides slaughter of the are necessary to defeat the Chinese army supplies and guard the hospitals en route The water supply is an important problem, the country furnishing none except the river wells which are being poisoned.

Terrible Atrocities of the Chinese. The Chinese are committing terrible atrocities upon the wounded. They are mutilating all the dead which fall into their hands. General Tung Fuh Siang, with 10,000 of the best disciplined troops in the Chinese army Mahomadans, is marching from the south Mahomadans, is marching from the southwest toward Pekin. The army thereabouts numbers 50,000. The empress fled to her summer palace. The Mahomadans and Boxers are fighting in Pekin. Ten regiments of General Nieh's command north of Tien Tsin are reported to have deserted and gone to pillaging the country. Residents dec are a Chinese commune has been inaugurated and that the peaceable Chinese are the greatest sufferers. The foreign soldiers are burning the outskirts of Tien Tsin to deprive the enemy of she'ter. The Boxers are destroying outlying villages for loot. The smoke of a hundred fires can be seen in every direction. Frightful Conditions in Tien Tsin.

Tien Tsin was not bombarded today, for he first time in a fortnight. Families are returning to their homes within the concessions. Women and children will be sent to Taku as soon as the travel is safe. sent to Taku as soon as the travel is safe. No unfriendly Chinamen are visible in the streets. A few of the richest, with their families, are huddled in the outhouses for protection, badly frightened. Others, concealed in various houses, shoot at the Europeans on the street. The Chinese dead about Tien Tsin number thousands. Most of those who have been killed lie unburied in the fields. The river to Taku is full of floating bodies and many have been washed up by the tide. Dogs are feeding on these bodies along the banks.

Americans Lead Every Movement. The small American contingents everywhere distinguished themselves. Captain lar at Tien Tsin and their men are placed by common consent in the lead of every movement, with the British c'ose beside movement, with the British close beside them. The foreigners in Tien Tsin declare that they owe their lives to the Russians, without whom the other small detachments must have been overwhelmed on the darkest day. Wednesday week, when the Chinese were pressing on every side and the bravest men were abandoning hope, the Russian commander. Colonel Wozack, atranged that the main body of the troops make a sortie with the civilians in the direction of Taku. Leaving 400 Russians to defend the city, he engaged the attention of the Chinese, the intention being for them to ultimately sacrifice themselves. The arrival of the Americans saved the day and proved a complete surprise.

Millions of War Supplies Destroyed. Among the evidences of the immense Chinese military preparation for war may be mentioned that arsenals and stores hitherto unknown have been discovered with $10.000,-000 worth of arms and ammunition of the most modern type. These arms and am-munition have been destroyed.

In three arsenals outside of Tien Tsin several thousand troops, under General Nieh, are holding the native city five miles north of Tien Tsin. It was rumored that 40,000 Chinese will attack the place at noon today. The troops under arms failed to materialize.

Admiral Seymour Slightly Wounded. recently by a spent ball, which struck him in the shoulder while in the house with Commander McCalla and Commander Taus-

The hero of Tien Tsin is James Watts, a young Englishman, perhaps the best rider in China, who, with three Cossacks, ran the gantlet to Taku with messages for re-inforcements, charting through villages under fire repeatedly. Several foreign commanders have recommended that the quartet be decorated.

ANNOTATIONS ON THE STAR

HOW THIS PAPER'S COMMENTS AF-FECT OTHER JOURNALS.

From the Scranton (Pa.) Truth,

Our excellent contemporary, The Wash-Our excellent contemporary, The Washington Star, calls attention to an agreeable and interesting feature of the closing scenes of Congress, namely, the cordiality with which members of all parties express their regard for the President. It is certainly pleasant to contemplate the friendly personal relations existing between President McKinley and the people's representatives. His exalted office entitles the President of the United States to the respect of all his fellow citizens, but in addition to this, it is gratifying to note the tact and courtesy with which President McKinley it is gratifying to note the tact and courtesy with which President McKinley has commended himself to the estrem and friendly consideration even of those states-men who are strenuously opposed to him in nolities.

Morris addition—Edw. L. Whitford et ux. The Washington Star congratulates the scople of the District of Columbia upon the prospect of being given an adequate garage disposal service. The Commissioners prospect of being given an adequate garbage disposal service. The Commissioners are reported to be inclined toward the acceptance of a bid for the performance of the work from a firm that has made a success of it in other cities by a process of reduction which is described as both thorough and inoffensive. The Star congratulates the Commissioners upon meeting such an opportunity to "solve in assatisfactory manner one of the standing problems of municipal housekeeping." And well it may! The introduction of this system, which has proved successful and economical in Detroit, Columbus, Indianapolis and other cities, will give other places an opportunity to study its benefits.

From the Oswego (N. Y.) Times.

The Washington Star, ind., warns that "while Oregon is a heartener for the republicans, the result there should not fill them with too great confidence for November," and that "there is a battle ahead which promises to call for all the men they can muster, and all the union of effort they can produce." Very good advice. But that the republican party is going to be caught rapping—we don't think.

Amnesty. From the Hartford (Conn.) Post.

The Washington Star, which is a most intelligent observer and commentator, is greatly impressed by the wisdom of the proclamation of amnesty to the Filipinos.
